foundation

*Making the decision to have a child is momentous.
It is to decide forever to have your heart go walking around outside your body. - Elizabeth Stone*

FROM EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR ELENI TSIGAS

Dear Friend:

Out of tragedy is born hope.
Out of hope is born a responsibility.

Losing a mother or baby because of preeclampsia causes deep anguish and frustration. Watching a mother or premature baby struggle for life and then pull through is a cause for celebration. A healthy response to either scenario is to encourage friends and family to channel their shared grief or gratitude. In 2011, record numbers of friends and family members made tribute gifts to the Preeclampsia Foundation in honor of or in memory of someone special touched by preeclampsia, eclampsia or HELLP syndrome. These gifts make possible the work we do in your name every day.

Designating the Preeclampsia Foundation for your tribute gifts is a powerful way to rally your friends and family around you, and together say: "Our experience can change the lives of others; we can create hope."

One memorial donation we received last year was accompanied by a brief handwritten note that made me pause and reflect: "Enclosed please find two donations in memory of my son Jonah Brown. Use them well."

VISION

We envision a world where preeclampsia no longer threatens the lives of mothers and babies.

MISSION

To reduce maternal and infant illness and death by providing patient support and education, raising public awareness, catalyzing research and improving health care practices.

Three simple words – Use. Them. Well.
– reminded me that we carry enormous responsibility to deliver on your hope. Wisely, prudently, boldly, expertly.

Many families give memorial or tribute donations to thank us because we are such a valuable source of information and emotional support. Women find a home in our online Community Forum and on our Facebook page, where common experiences transcend any demographic or geographic differences. Family members have been comforted by a Patient Support Network volunteer who spends time with them on the phone or in person. Co-workers call our Hotline for advice about how to help a colleague who has lost a baby or to understand medically what happened to their friend.

A tribute gift conveys more than just words. It's a tangible demonstration of your caring and support. Reasons you gave tribute gifts in 2011 included:

- Commemorating Trey Dolceamore's 7th birthday in heaven, by family members who wrote, "We miss you and think about you every day. We will honor your memory always."

- In memory of Ashlyn Ryan Parrott, whose family wrote a beautiful six-stanza poem that included this verse:

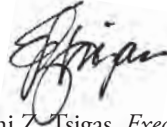

*"Her life ended prematurely
Just as she had been born, but
She taught us to love,
To hope beyond expectation -
To pray, and to trust in that which is unknown."*

- In honor of a favorite physician, Dr. Phyllis August, whose work with patients and in research continues to move the bar.

This report is a brief glimpse of our 2011 activities, demonstrating how seriously we take the gifts you have entrusted to us.

Use. Them. Well. We are! Thank you for walking beside us as we do.

Warmest regards,

Eleni Z. Tsigas, Executive Director

SAMPLES OF OUR IMPACT IN 2011

We are the victims and survivors of preeclampsia who care passionately about making a difference for our own futures and for others, including our children. We are part of a silent club that we did not choose to join, but our support for one another and our zeal to shake up the status quo has tangible results, evidenced in our numbers, our voices and our accomplishments.

PROVIDE PATIENT EDUCATION AND SUPPORT

We educate, support and empower women and their advocates with information about the warning signs, long-term consequences and medical understanding of preeclampsia, including the need to receive timely, appropriate care. We use multiple communication channels—print, online, multimedia, peer-to-peer and more—to provide this information.

2011 OUTCOMES

- Distributed 33,000 patient education materials
- Provided 300+ hours of patient support

“Over the years, since losing my son to severe preeclampsia in 2005, I have visited the Preeclampsia Foundation website/Forum to share thoughts and see if there are others who share similar stories. We all share something in some form or another. I’m stronger knowing I’m not alone. Today, I took an extra step and filled out the volunteer form.

Thank you to the Preeclampsia Foundation for giving me comfort and support.”

- C.G.

RAISE PUBLIC AWARENESS

Through media outreach, our monthly e-newsletter Expectations, a dynamic social media presence, events like The Promise Walk for Preeclampsia™ and advocacy efforts, we increase awareness of preeclampsia, raising global awareness of this devastating maternal-fetal health issue.

2011 OUTCOMES

- Hosted The Promise Walk for Preeclampsia™ in 24 US cities.
- Reached 1,100,000 people through outgoing Foundation communication.
- Acquired 3,000 signatures on "Hear Us Now" petition to designate May as Preeclampsia Awareness Month.
- Featured in March 2011 Wall Street Journal article "Problems in Pregnancy Signal Future Health Risks" by Ron Winslow, in which mention was made of the "growing recognition that expectant women who have preeclampsia or gestational diabetes are at much greater risk of developing illness well beyond the baby's birth, including cardiovascular disease and diabetes, compared to women with uncomplicated pregnancies."

CATALYZE RESEARCH

We advocate for and fund research into the cause, prevention and treatment of preeclampsia, addressing critical gaps in scientific knowledge and inspiring new thinking. Our Vision Grants and Study Participant Recruitment Services exemplify our mission in action.

2011 OUTCOMES

- Recruited 1,650 participants for new research studies.
- Convened investigators from 7 National Institutes of Health for interdisciplinary collaboration.
- Funded $50,000 of novel research ideas via Vision Grants.

2011 VISION GRANT RECIPIENTS

SANDRA FOUNDS, CNM, FNP, PHD
School of Nursing, Magee Women's Research Institute, University of Pittsburgh

TOPIC: Biomarker assay development for translation of discovery-based placental mRNA candidates to serum protein concentrations in early pregnancy to predict preeclampsia.

NIHAR NAYAK, DVM, PHD
Stanford University School of Medicine

TOPIC: Regulation and functions of placental sFlt-1: relevance to preeclampsia.

IMPROVE HEALTH CARE PRACTICES

We facilitate professional training, resources and research to improve the care provided by doctors, nurses, midwives and other allied health professionals.

We partner with institutions to provide in-person and online continuing medical education (CME) and continuing education unit (CEU) courses.

Our Continuum of Care programs provide free patient education materials for all health care providers.

2011 OUTCOMES

- Trained 4,000 health care providers through professional courses and medical meetings.
- Contributed to development of World Health Organization's Recommendations for Prevention and Treatment of Pre-eclampsia and Eclampsia.
- Contributed to new national guidelines recognizing preeclampsia as risk factor for heart disease.
- Published a chapter on role of patient advocacy in health care in Best Practices & Research: Clinical Obstetrics & Gynaecology.

"In 2011, I was thrilled to learn that, because of the results from my Vision Grant project, the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development awarded me a 5-year grant. This will allow me to take our initial positive findings and determine if inadequate immunologic tolerance of the fetus by the mother contributes to the development of preeclampsia. If so, this research could suggest new therapeutic targets."

- Dr. Hilary Gammill,
University of Washington,
2009 Vision Grant Recipient

VOLUNTEERS MAKE STRIDES

The Preeclampsia Foundation has grown significantly through our strong, grassroots network of volunteers, many of whom continue to deepen their involvement with the Foundation, while others are just now joining the cause. We thrive on the willingness, energy and ideas of our volunteers, whose contributions make a significant difference in others' lives while enriching their own. In 2011, over 180 volunteers made huge strides to drive public awareness, fundraising, patient support and education, and to launch or enlarge The Promise Walk for Preeclampsia™ in communities across the country.

AND DELIVER HOPE!

WALK FOR PREECLAMPSIA

The Promise Walk for Preeclampsia™ is our signature public awareness and fundraising event. In 2011, 24 Promise Walks were held throughout the U.S. and raised $231,000 for our mission.

We encourage supporters to join with us and get involved in their local Promise Walk by registering to walk – either on their own or with a team of co-workers, family, friends or neighbors; donating to a walk participant; forming a walk team; sponsoring a walk – through financial or in-kind donations; and spreading the word to others.

Making Strides Delivering Hope

FIELD OF CRADLES CAPTURES MEMORIES

The grassy field of empty cradles at Castle Island Park, site of Boston's 2011 Promise Walk for Preeclampsia™, was a poignant reminder of the devastating impact of preeclampsia. Each empty cradle held a handcrafted blanket and poem written in memory of a child who lost his or her life to preeclampsia, while gentle lullabies played in the background.

“I Gave You Words/Field of Cradles” was the vision of writer, walk coordinator and two-time survivor, Susannah Pabot. Susannah worked with families from across the country to write Field of Cradles poems – hearing their stories, hopes, grief and undying love for the babies they lost to preeclampsia.

Students from the Rhode Island School of Design, Brown University's Creative Arts Council and others designed and produced the cradles, blankets and sound environment.

SAVING GRACE – A NIGHT OF HOPE & GRATITUDE

When Jaime Nolan lost her daughter, Grace Ann, as a result of sudden onset severe preeclampsia, she was determined not to let the meaning of her baby's life end there. Born at 27 weeks, Grace survived eight days while her mother fought for her life.

In her grief, Jaime found the Preeclampsia Foundation website and discovered a network of support. With her husband, Joe, Jaime founded and chaired the first Saving Grace gala in 2005 in Minneapolis, raising over $57,000. Saving Grace has rotated across the nation since then – to San Francisco, Boston, Washington, D.C., Chicago and Seattle.

In 2011, Saving Grace – A Night of Hope and Gratitude was held at the Hilton New York in Manhattan, a co-hosted collaboration between the Preeclampsia Foundation and Foundation for America's Blood Centers. We thank our generous sponsors, attendees and co-chairs Lauren Ward Larsen, past President and Chief Ambassador for The Foundation for America's Blood Centers, and Patrick Dignan, past President of the Board for the Preeclampsia Foundation.

REMEMBERING SOMEONE SPECIAL

A tribute gift to the Preeclampsia Foundation is a special way to honor or remember someone whose life has been touched by preeclampsia, eclampsia or HELLP Syndrome. Whether honoring a loved one, friend or colleague, or celebrating a significant event, occasion or achievement, tribute gifts are a special expression.

We thank the donors listed here for their generous gifts received between January 1 - December 31, 2011.
